

R&H CONSTRUCTION

Safety Commitment Statement

At R&H Construction we are SAFE builders. Safety is a company value, not just a field value. We put the safety of our team members, subcontractors, clients, and the community first – ALWAYS. We care about one another and have a personal responsibility to allow our teammates and subcontracting partners to live their best lives at work and at home.

Our goal is to have zero injuries, and we are committed to achieving this by:

- Empowering every team member to be curious about safe operations, asking questions and sharing safety suggestions, concerns, and positive outcomes.
- Engaging our leadership team in all aspects of safety, by actively listening to our field team and collaborating based on our unified safety commitment.
- Selecting project partners who value safe operations.
- Understanding that well-planned work based on shared safe-operations best practices is more important than schedule or budget.
- Eliminating exposure to unsafe conditions by working to plan and choosing the proper tools, equipment, and materials.
- Analyzing R&H safety data and trends to make continuously better safe-work decisions.
- Providing all necessary training and resources to ensure a safe work environment for all.
- Holding one another accountable through open and honest communication and consistent follow through.
- Knowing that team members who have the courage to speak up about at-risk behaviors do so because they care about our safety.
- Celebrating our safety milestones and achievements.
- Ingraining a safety mind-set into everything we do at work and at home.
